Lower Thames Crossing Groundwork Surveys to Start on 1st July 2019

Highways England's contractors are expected to start work on groundworks surveys on 1st July 2019. There will be around 100 bore holes south of the Thames, including a number along the A2 centre reservation and possibly either side. These bore holes will be made using a range of drilling equipment, and the activities will be visible.

The groundworks survey team will be based at their new compound on the old lorry park at Marling Cross. Access to the sites will be from the A2 via the old Esso Service Station site, from Lower Higham Road, and from the A226. There will also be laydown and storage areas near Gravelhill Wood and Queens Farm Road.
